

THE KENTUCKY KERNEL

VOLUME XLII

LEXINGTON, KENTUCKY, FRIDAY, JANUARY 11, 1952

NUMBER 13

JOAN MARTIN, Kappa Kappa Gamma, has been awarded the trophy for the annual Miss Christmas Seal contest. Student contributions to the Tuberculosis campaign amounted to $1089.

'Popular Professor' Nominations Open In SUB Tuesday

Nominations for the "Most Popular Professor" title will be held in the SUB Tuesday. Students will have an opportunity between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. to make nominations from professors in all colleges.

After these nominations are totaled and two professors from each college are chosen, students will vote for the final tally Friday.

The winning professor will reign as Rex of the Mardi Gras Ball, which will be sponsored by the Newman Club on Feb. 23.

Joan Martin Is Awarded 'Seal' Trophy

Miss Joan Martin, Kappa Kappa Gamma, was the winner of the Miss Christmas Seal contest sponsored by the Lexington-Fayette County Tuberculosis Association. She was awarded an engraved trophy.

Placing second and third in the contest were Ann Grillo, Alpha Gamma Delta, and Barbara Leet, Alpha Delta Pi.

Veteran Fees Now Available At VA Office

Veterans who complete the requirements for graduation at the end of the current semester should file for fees with the Veterans Administration office, Room 201 C, Administration Building, before leaving school.

The Louisville VA has ruled that any veteran now enrolled, whose entitlement expires on or after April 3, will be carried until the end of that semester with full benefits. Any veteran whose time expires before this date should check with local VA officials if he desires to have his time extended.

Those veterans registering for the next semester should pick up certification cards as usual at the U.S. Geological Survey Building. The only exception to the schedule which is printed in the catalog is that those groups registering at 8 a.m. on Monday and Tuesday mornings will pick up their cards at 7:30 a.m. The change is made in order to avoid undue waiting for the Coliseum to open. Other groups will follow the schedule as listed.

The VA office has also announced a new rate for typing dissertations. They will not pay in excess of 40 cents per page. The previous rate was 50 cents per page.

Final Examinations Will Start Jan. 21

Law College Tests To Begin Thursday

Final examinations in all colleges of the University except the College of Law will begin Monday, Jan. 21, and continue through Friday, Jan. 25.

Monday, Jan. 21, 7:30-9:35 a.m., classes which meet first on Tuesday or Thursday at 3 p.m.; 9:45-11:50 a.m., classes which meet first on Monday or Wednesday at 10 a.m.; 1:00-3:05 p.m., classes which meet first on Tuesday or Thursday at 10 a.m.; 3:15-5:20 p.m., classes which meet first on Monday or Wednesday at 3 p.m.

Tuesday, Jan. 22, 7:30-9:35 a.m., classes which meet on Tuesday or Thursday at 5 p.m.; 9:45-11:50 a.m., classes which meet on Monday or Wednesday at 10 a.m.; 1:00-3:05 p.m., classes which meet on Tuesday or Thursday at 8 a.m.; 3:15-5:20 p.m., classes which meet on Monday or Wednesday at 5 p.m.

Wednesday, Jan. 23, 7:30-9:35 a.m., classes which meet on Tuesday and Thursday at 4 p.m.; 9:45-11:50 a.m., classes which meet on Monday or Wednesday at 9 a.m.; 1:00-3:05 p.m., classes which meet on Tuesday and Thursday at 9 a.m.; 3:15-5:20 p.m., classes which meet on Monday and Wednesday at 4 p.m.

Thursday, Jan. 24, 7:30-9:35 a.m., classes which meet on Tuesday or Thursday at 12 noon; 9:45-11:50 a.m., classes which meet on Monday or Wednesday at 1 p.m.; 1:00-3:05 p.m., classes which meet on Tuesday and Thursday at 1 p.m.; 3:15-5:20 p.m., classes which meet on Monday or Wednesday at 12 noon.

Friday, Jan. 25, 7:30-9:35, classes which meet on Tuesday or Thursday at 2 p.m.; 9:45-11:50, classes which meet on Monday or Wednesday at 11 a.m.; 1:00-3:05, classes which meet on Tuesday or Thursday at 11 a.m.; 3:00-5:20, classes which meet on Monday or Wednesday at 2 p.m.

The examination in any evening class should be held on its regular evening during the examination days.

No final examination shall be given before Monday, January 21, except on written approval from the Registrar.

In case of a conflict, the instructor involved shall report this fact to the Registrar at least two weeks before the final examination period. In such case, the Registrar shall decide when the examination is to be given.

The class tickets for a course shall be filed with the Registrar within 48 hours after the close of the examination in that course. All class tickets should be in the Registrar's office by 9 a.m. Monday, Jan. 28.

The semester examinations of the College of Law, which do not follow the regular University schedule, are scheduled from Thursday, Jan. 17 through Jan. 25.

Tests in all subjects in the College of Law, scheduled for 8:30 a.m. on their respective dates, are Jan. 17—Contracts I, Equity, and Trade Regulation; Jan. 18—Mortgages; Jan. 19—Pleading I, Creditors' Rights, and Corporations; Jan. 21—Torts I, Legislation, and Trusts; Jan. 22—Constitutional Law, and Public Utilities; Jan. 23—Property I, Property II, and Conflict of Laws; Jan. 24—Partnership; and Jan. 25—Domestic Relations, and Property III.

UK Law Team Reaches Quarter Finals In Trial

Arizona Entrants Defeat University

The 1951 series of national moot court competition in New York City, in which two UK law students advanced to the quarter finals, came to a close shortly before the holidays.

In an austere atmosphere somewhat like that of the United States Supreme Court, Robert Hall Smith and Jack Lowery Jr., UK's representatives, defeated a Tulane team in the first round but went down before the oratorical ability of a law team from the University of Arizona in the quarter finals.

Arizona went on to win the fourth annual series, sponsored by the Association of the Bar of the City of New York, in a divided decision over Georgetown University of Washington, victors in the 1950 competition.

The UK orators represented the Midwestern Region as a result of their victory in the St. Louis regional competition.

The final contest on Dec. 14 ended two days of elimination trials among students from 15 law schools who went to New York as winners of regional contests in which 56 law schools had participated.

In 1950 a law team from the University in the same series was adjudged runner-up in the regionals in St. Louis and went to the semi-finals in national competition in New York City.

Argued by all the teams was the question whether the moot Supreme Court should sustain a contempt conviction based on the refusal of the appellant to testify at a Congressional hearing because of the presence of television lights and cameras.

The question argued by the students has never been decided by the United States Supreme Court. Two St. Louis bookmakers called before the Kefauver Crime Investigating Committee refused to testify because the proceedings were televised, but they were not cited for contempt.

The final series was presided over by Associated Justice Harold H. Burton of the United States Supreme Court.

Intercollegiate Debates Start Here Tomorrow

The annual Kentucky Intercollegiate Debate Tournament will be held here tomorrow afternoon in the Fine Arts Building.

Being held at UK for the first time in recent years, the tournament will include three rounds of debate on the subject, Resolved: That the Federal Government should adopt a permanent plan of price and wage control.

Two teams each will represent Asbury, Centre, Eastern, University of Louisville, Union, Villa Madonna, and UK. Kentucky State will send representatives to observe the contest, but won't enter the competition. The championship trophy has been donated by the Lexington Herald-Leader, and Bob West's Sporting Goods Store furnished the runner-up trophy.

Dr. Leo Chamberlain, vice president of UK, will welcome the students at a luncheon at noon in the SUB.

The winner will be decided on a win-loss basis, and any ties will be decided on the point system.

Dean M. M. White will present the victor's silver cup in a ceremony at 4:30 p.m. in the Fine Arts Laboratory Theater.

This tournament is sponsored by UK debaters taking part are Ed Rue and Lester Wise, affirmative; and Bill Douglas and George Creedle, negative.

In addition to the regular tournament, there will be some non-championship practice sessions in which Mary Alice Bowen, Cap Turner, Mary Marsten, Jacob Mayer, and Ed Rutmayer will represent UK.

Dr. Gifford Blyton, coach of the University debate club, invited all students and faculty to attend the tournament.

The Artists Committee To Include Students, Faculty, Townspeople

Beginning this year, two University students will serve on the Artists Committee of the Community Concert and Lecture Series. Prof. R. D. McIntyre, chairman of the committee, said this week.

Until now, the committee has been composed entirely of townspeople and faculty, according to Prof. McIntyre.

George Creedle, a student in the College of Law, and Virginia Thompson, junior music major, are the two students named to the committee. They will serve with 12 others selected from the Board of Directors of the Series.

The Artists Committee selects the performers for the annual series. Prof. McIntyre said any students who had ideas about the artists to be selected could make their ideas known by contacting either Creedle or Miss Thompson.

Heart Attack Claims Life Of Professor

Edward Wilford Dies At Home

Edward J. Wilford, UK professor of animal husbandry, died at his residence on the Nicholasville Road Friday after suffering a heart attack. His age was 61.

He came to UK in 1918 to teach and in 1925 received his master's degree here. He was graduated from Cornell in 1917 with a B.S. degree.

Professor Wilford was head of the meat and agriculture sales department at the College of Agriculture. He was a member of Broadway Christian Church and Alpha Gamma Rho social fraternity.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Clara Mae Crouch Wilford, two sons, and four daughters.

Burial was Monday in Hillcrest Memorial Park.

Science Writer Will Discuss Atom, Peace

William Laurance, twice Pulitzer prize winner and science writer for the New York Times, will speak on "Atomic Progress and Its Significance for World Peace" at 8:15 p.m. Thursday, in Memorial Coliseum.

Author of "Dawn Over Zero" and "The Hell Bomb", Mr. Laurance is the only civilian to witness four of the first five atomic bomb explosions. He was selected by the heads of the atom-bomb project to visit secret war plants and to write a series of reports which were released after V-J day.

He was awarded the Pulitzer Prize in 1937 for reporting the Harvard Tercentenary Conference of Arts and Sciences, and again in 1946 for his eye-witness account of atom-bombing of Nagasaki.

Born in Salantai, Lithuania, in 1888, Mr. Laurance came to the United States in 1905 and was naturalized in 1913. He attended Harvard Law School, Boston University, and the University of Besancon, France.

After serving briefly as an instructor in philosophy at Roxbury and Mt. Auburn, tutoring schools at Cambridge, Mass., he joined the staff of the New York World in 1921, as a reporter. Later he was associate aviation editor and science news reporter before going to the New York Times in 1930. There he has become renowned for his informative scientific articles.

Among Mr. Laurance's many scientific and military prizes are the annual award of the Society of Scientists for the best editorial achievement of 1945 by a New York newspaperman and the University of Missouri medal for distinguished service to Journalism in 1946.

Mr. Laurance is a member of Sigma Delta Chi, professional Journalism honorary; the Dramatists Guild of the Authors League of America; and the National Association of Science Writers.

Guignol Announces 'Tartuffe' Tryouts

Tryouts for the next Guignol production, Moliere's "Tartuffe," will be held at 7:30 p.m. Monday, Jan. 14, in the Guignol Theater. The cast calls for five women and seven men.

Student Directories Being Distributed

Student directories are now being distributed at the checkroom in the SUB. Jess Gardner, chairman of the directory committee of the Student Government Association, said this week.

The directories, which are distributed without charge, are pocket-sized this year, and contain 72 pages.

Information for each student includes his Lexington telephone number, home address, college, class, and his Lexington address. Also included in the directory are the names, addresses, and telephone numbers of administrative officers, deans and directors, heads of general offices and bureaus, directors of the libraries, and officers of student publications.

A section in the back of the directory lists information about residence units for men and women, sorority and fraternity houses, and student organizations, together with the names of the presidents of the organizations.

Gardner said several errors appeared in the book because registration cards were hard to read in many instances. In cases of incomplete information, he added, that information was omitted on registration cards.

Bryant Says Football Players No Longer To Be Recruited From Outside Commonwealth

VITO "BABE" PARILLI, the most valuable back to play in the 1952 Cotton Bowl, received the trophy for the University from Otto Eisenlohr, vice president of the Cotton Bowl Association. Eisenlohr said that he hoped Kentucky would play in the Cotton Bowl again.

Babe Parilli's Jersey Is Retired Permanently

Celebration Honors Cotton Bowl Team

"No. 10," the jersey worn by UK quarterback and co-captain Vito (Babe) Parilli, will be retired permanently, Coach Paul Bryant said Monday night before the Xavier-Kentucky basketball game.

The announcement was made during an official "Welcome Home" celebration for the football team in Memorial Coliseum. The suggestion that Parilli's number be retired came from Chuck Tilley, sports editor of the Kernel, according to Coach Bryant.

No future Wildcat will wear the number, "unless it is Parilli's son."

Five speakers, including Otto Eisenlohr, vice president of the Cotton Bowl Association; Dr. Herman L. Donovan, University president; State Police Commissioner Guthrie Crowe; Mayor Fred Fugazzi; and Guy Huguelet, chairman of the Board of Trustees, who acted as master of ceremonies, were on the welcoming program.

Commissioner Crowe, representing Gov. Lawrence Wetherby, who was unable to attend, awarded Kentucky Colonel commissions to all members of the squad and coaching staff who were not already Kentucky Colonels.

Mayor Fugazzi gave Co-captains Parilli and Doug Moseley, who was absent from the celebration, copies of the street signs designating the Avenue of Champions, which runs between the Coliseum and Stoll Field.

In presenting the signs, Mayor Fugazzi said, "I don't know how much fuller a day a mayor can have than to have as one of his first official duties to welcome this fine Wildcat football team back to Lexington." Monday was the Mayor's first day in office.

Dr. Donovan said, "I don't think participation in football at the University of Kentucky has hurt any boy."

He added that Coach Bryant's decision to ban recruiting of players outside of Kentucky was taken entirely on his own initiative.

Eisenlohr, who presented the Cotton Bowl Trophy to Parilli for the Wildcats, said the Cotton Bowl Association hoped to have Kentucky in the Cotton Bowl again.

Bill Spivey Quits UK Squad Over Basketball Fix Rumors

One of the major developments in the sports world occurred over the holidays when Bill Spivey, All-American center, quit the UK basketball squad until his name is cleared of "false and malicious rumors" linking him to basketball scandals.

Spivey, in a letter to Dr. Donovan, asked that his name be removed from the eligibility list in order to "stop the vicious rumors being circulated in regard to my teammates and to remove any suspicion from them."

The seven-foot center, in his letter, denied emphatically that he was involved in "fixing" or point shaving in Kentucky or elsewhere; nor had he ever received any money from anyone, at any place or any time, for shaving points or "fixing" a game.

Spivey quit the squad following a fruitless investigation by Vincent O'Connor, Assistant District Attorney of New York. O'Connor came to Kentucky in order to get testimony from "three Kentucky players or former players in order to bring to justice a number of vicious fixers other than those already under indictment."

O'Connor said that the names of all three of the unnamed players would be made public during future developments of the basketball scandals.

After Elmer Drake, attorney for Spivey, had finished reading Spivey's letter at the press conference in Dean A. D. Kirwan's office, Dean Kirwan read a statement from the UK Athletic Association in which the association said it was complying with Spivey's request but emphasized that he will be reinstated when his name is cleared.

Kirwan emphasized that Spivey voluntarily took the step he did "without any pressure from any source."

Asked if Spivey would go to New York to testify, Drake said there was no legal means by which Spivey could be forced to go to New York unless some charges were brought against him personally, but that he "would go if he can show how he can be of benefit." Drake added that O'Connor had never presented "any proof of any kind" against Spivey.

UK Alums Nominated For Trustee Post

Three UK alumni were recently nominated for a post on the University's Board of Trustees. Alumni from all over the country voted by mail.

Board Secretary Frank D. Peterson announced that the three nominees are Smith Broadbent, Cadiz; Guy Huguelet, Lexington; and Mrs. Cecil T. Williams, Somerset.

One of the three nominees will be appointed by Governor Lawrence W. Wetherby to a four-year term as alumni member of the Board. The new member will fill the vacancy left when Guy Huguelet's term expired Dec. 31.

Coach Believes Plan To Correct Gridiron's Evils

By CHUCK TILLEY
Kernel Sports Editor

There will be no more out of state recruitment of football players at the University. Head Coach Paul "Bear" Bryant announced at a press conference immediately after his return from Dallas and the Cotton Bowl a new policy governing recruiting is now in effect.

Bryant explained much adverse publicity has been accorded the University for methods employed in obtaining players for the football squad. At a pre-game Cotton Bowl luncheon, Bryant hinted there would be a change in policy, but no one expected one so contrary to the one he has used since becoming head coach in 1946.

Out of the state players have formed the nucleus of his teams which have risen to national prominence. Prior to his signing at Kentucky, the teams served as conference whipping boys on the gridiron.

Recruiting Draws Criticism

Bryant explained the majority of criticism aimed at college football today stems from recruiting tactics. The solution to the present football picture, he said, lies in granting security to coaches and a de-emphasis of recruiting. His contract at the University runs until 1962, with assurance from President H. L. Donovan that the contract is good for life if the personable coach chooses to remain here. The change in policy governing recruiting, Bryant believes, is a standard by which the University will prove there is nothing wrong with college football.

Known nationally for his ability to obtain highly regarded high school players, Bryant stressed he does not want to discourage out of state students from enrolling at the University. Instead he wants to encourage football at high schools within the state, he said.

Each Player Must Contact UK

Five football scholarships each year will be awarded out of state students but the recipients of those awards will have to visit the University on their own accord to receive one. Neither Bryant, members of his coaching staff, nor representatives of the University will contact a boy who does not live or play in the state. These scholarships, Bryant said, are intended for sons and brothers of alumni, and brothers of players who play or have played at UK.

On the traveling squad to the Cotton Bowl, 26 of the 49 players were from out of state. Bryant pointed out the ratio of out of state students on his squad is out of proportion to the Kentucky students and out of state students enrolled in the University as a whole. Sixteen per cent of all students enrolled for the 1950-51 school year were from other states.

Present Scholarships Good

Several football scholarships have already been awarded to graduating high school players this year. Coach Bryant said those who will be honored if the players register at the University voluntarily. All scholarships belonging to players already enrolled will remain in effect.

Bryant pointed out it will take about four years to determine if he can field a team composed of Kentucky high school players as powerful as his recent bowl games. Bryant said he has "confidence in the ability of Kentucky boys to stand toe-to-toe with those of neighboring states and hold their own in football."

Kentucky now has 108 high schools which field 11-man football teams. Bryant said he believes he can field a team representative of his previous teams provided he gets the good talent from those schools. "We are going to have to get the boys we are entitled to if this plan is to work," Bryant said.

Asks For Co-operation

In closing his statement, Bryant asked "our alumni and friends in neighboring states to desist from any recruitment in our behalf. I ask our colleagues in our neighboring states to notify me if they learn of any such activity."

Expressing his thanks to out of state players who have performed for him, Bryant said, "They are as truly sons of Kentucky as are those who, bred in the Commonwealth, joined forces with them in an effort to enhance the athletic prestige of the University."

The number of scholarships granted each year to football players will not change. They will be granted to Kentucky high school students.

Naming of J Building Approved By Trustees

Naming of the new Journalism Building in honor of the late Enoch Grehan, founder and for 23 years head of the UK Department of Journalism, was approved by UK trustees Dec. 18.

Robert And Gaby Casadesus To Give Piano Concert In Memorial Coliseum

Robert and Gaby Casadesus will present a joint piano recital at 3 p.m. Sunday in Memorial Coliseum. This will be the fifth of the Community Concert and Lecture Series.

Both from families of musicians, Mr. and Mrs. Casadesus were born in France.

Together they have appeared in joint recitals and in concerts for two pianos with orchestra. Robert Casadesus' own Concerto for Two Pianos has had a series of performances in recent years with the composer and wife playing with the Cincinnati Symphony, the Montreal Symphony, the Rochester Philharmonic, and the New York Philharmonic-Symphony.

They have also appeared on radio programs, including the Telephone Hour, and have done recordings of special works.

The concert program will include Mozart's Sonata in D major for Two Pianos, K. 448; Schumann's Carnaval, Op. 9; Ballade in A-flat, Opus 47, Berceuse, Opus 57, and Tarentelle, Opus 43, all by Frederic Chopin; Russian Dance, Mr. Casadesus' own composition; Valse Romantique by Chabrier; and Infante's Gracia.

Other programs in this year's concert and lecture series include the Pittsburgh Symphony with Eugene Istomin, pianist, on Feb. 22; the Cincinnati Symphony with Ljuba Welitsch, soloist, Feb. 25; Salvatore Dali, speaker, Feb. 27; the Robert Shaw Choral, March 10; and Jussi and Anna Lisa Bjorling, joint recital, April 7.

Bryant Plans Fitting Climax To UK's Football Season

Coach Bryant put a fitting climax on UK's football season with the announcement, following the Wildcats' Cotton Bowl victory, that the University would discontinue recruiting out of state football players.

This move should do a great deal to eliminate one of the most objectionable aspects of modern big time football, high pressure recruiting. Should the move be adopted by other universities, it might well prove a great factor in reducing the cut-throat competition that has caused much ill feeling between schools in the past. Even if it is not adopted by other schools, it should put an end to much of the adverse publicity UK has received for its recruiting methods.

In a letter to The Students Speak, one student has expressed fear that the Bryant plan may make it difficult for Kentucky to field teams of the same calibre as those who have represented the University in recent years. We doubt that this will be the result. Although Kentucky does have far fewer high school football teams than do many other states, it also has much less competition from schools within the state than do most other major universities.

Such a program may well result in occasional poor teams, however. The real test of the workability of the plan then, will be the reaction of fans to these "lean" years. Again, as always, the ultimate decision is that of the fan.

A word of caution: the new recruiting plan cannot be judged as to its effectiveness until at least four years have passed. Many out of state athletes are here on scholarships now, and those scholarships which have been offered to players next year will be honored, so it will actually be the '57 season before the out of state players will be in their proper proportion under the new plan.

Regardless of how well this plan works, it should not be considered a cure-all for all the ills of big time football. It is, however, a definite step toward the correction of one of those ills—recruiting.

Band Trip Proves Past Forgotten

Several complaints have come to us from band members regarding their treatment on the Cotton Bowl trip. Evidently they have justifiable grievances.

Band members made the trip by train—a very old train without air conditioning. Their lodging for the one night they spent in Dallas was provided by the Salvation Army. As a whole the trip was not a very enjoyable or restful experience, we imagine.

We could be wrong, but from here it looks like part of the $123,000 Kentucky received for participating in the Cotton Bowl might have been used to provide better trip conditions for the Band without placing the University in dire financial straits. Perhaps we're forgetting too soon that not long ago "The Best Band in Dixie" was about all Kentucky fans had to cheer about at football games.

A Quick Review Covering Fraternity Scholarship, Donovan Stand On SAS

By Dorman Cordell

In scholarship, the UK fraternity system ranks lowest of any state university south of the Mason and Dixon line.

This is not just my opinion. This is the statement of Ralph W. Wilson, a member of the executive committee of the College Fraternity Scholarship Officers' Association.

Mr. Wilson points out that some fraternities on the University campus are comparatively high in scholastic standing, but others drag these down enough to make the system as a whole the lowest in the South.

Mr. Wilson cites five fraternities as high in scholarship in 1949-50. Farm House ranked fifth out of 10 chapters; DTD ranked fourth in 68 chapters; Triangle was fifth of 10 chapters; SAE was fifth of 28 chapters, and PiKA was sixth of 69 chapters.

But—Beta Sigma Rho was seventh in rank among seven chapters; ZBT was thirty-seventh of 37 chapters; and Delta Chi was thirty-third of 33 chapters.

If we go further, ATO ranked seventy-fourth among 77 chapters; Sigma Phi Epsilon was sixty-fourth in 66 chapters; Phi Kappa Tau was forty-fourth of 45 chapters; Alpha Sigma Phi was twenty-fourth of 28 chapters; Sigma Nu was eightieth of 81 chapters; and Sigma Chi ranked one hundred tenth in 112 chapters.

In making the report, Mr. Wilson seems alarmed that the Kentucky fraternity system should "year after year give Kentucky a black eye."

The question is: Are fraternity members and officials disturbed enough about the situation to do something about it?

What's the score, huh? department:

May we quote from a letter by President H. L. Donovan: "I wish to congratulate the young men in the newly formed Student Action Society who have revealed to the officials of Lexington the existence of gambling machines in business houses near the University, and have brought about the destruction and elimination of these machines."

May we also quote from a story in a certain downtown afternoon paper whose name we will not mention, but whose initials are the Lexington Leader:

"Dr. H. L. Donovan . . . said that he did not think 'it is the business of youngsters on the campus to set up a detective agency, but that it is their business to co-operate with the law if they know of any law violation.'"

"Dr. Donovan said he believed that Wright (Jesse Wright, president of the SAS) overstated the case when . . . he said . . . that the student organization had Dr. Donovan's stamp of approval."

Apparently, the SAS isn't waiting around for Dr. Donovan to make up his mind. It takes the credit for sending the city police on a raid just before Christmas of the VFW downtown. The raid netted several slot machines plus several slot machine players.

Library Plight Offers Food For State Legislators' Thought

As the State Legislature at Frankfort gets ready to consider the UK budget for the coming two years we offer the following for consideration:

Circulation at the Margaret I. King Library during December 1951 was 600 more volumes than in December 1950. Yet the personnel in charge of this circulation is 42 per cent less for this fiscal year than it was for the preceding year.

These figures are indicative of the growth of the library, which has shown a 72 per cent increase in circulation during the last five years. They are indicative also of the increasing use of the University's facilities and of the need for increases in state appropriations if the University is to maintain the services it now provides for the students and the state.

It is true that enrollment has dropped, but the loss of the veterans has not reduced the number of services and facilities that are supplied by the University. But the loss of federal funds which paid for the veterans' educations can cause such a reduction unless the state steps in to meet the loss.

In previous issues we have attempted to show a failure of the legislature to approve the budget increases and the resulting reduction of the UK faculty and staff by 200 persons would affect the state as a whole, not only those directly connected with the University. Economy in government is an admirable thing, but it is our belief that a cut in the University budget would not prove economical for the state in the long run.

The legislators should bear in mind that the University budget was not planned for any great expansion. Instead it represents the amount of money needed to keep the University operating at its present level.

We believe that few of the legislators would actually like to see the University slip from that level. It is possible, however, that they may not immediately see the need for the increases called for in the request and may feel that the budget has been "padded". We urge them to spend a little time considering the reasons, supported by statistics, offered by the administration for requesting the increases. This time would be well spent in the interest of Kentucky.

When the fate of the University budget is decided, the decision may also have considerable bearing upon the fate of the state as a whole. Legislators should not overlook this fact in reaching their decision.

Students Speak: Athlete Vs. Scholar

The problem of big-time collegiate athletics is a perplexing one. A solution will not come easily, and all of us must accept the responsibility of making a thorough attempt to understand the situation and to take the proper steps toward improvement. Especially does this responsibility lie with the University administration. There is an unenviable position, and I sympathize with them.

However, there has been mounting evidence that the administration harbors a most deplorable attitude toward education and athletics. Indeed, it seems as if a complete new educational philosophy has been espoused. These attitudes were finally crystallized in the recent proclamations of none other than the head of our University, President Herman L. Donovan.

He stated, in effect, that playing football is the best way we males can prepare for the future that faces us (war), that making the football team is as worthy an accomplishment as achieving scholastic honors, and that for military leadership he would prefer a football player to a student with a Ph.D. in Economics, Greek, or Psychology. These statements were made over a national radio network. They left us stu- I have had respect and admiration for many of the players . . . both as athletes and as serious students. Dr. Donovan's statements to these boys a great injustice. There is already enough unfavorable publicity about our sports; now our own president publicly derogates our scholastic qualities. What greater damage could be done to a student's reputation in the field of higher education? How will others regard our standing if they interpret Dr. Donovan's remarks as typifying the milieu in which we are schooled?

Efforts to integrate athletics into a sane, well-rounded college program have my heartiest support. If, on the contrary, athletics and scholastics are to be held as mutually exclusive endeavors and the relative merits of each compared, my choice lies with the more scholarly pursuits.

President Donovan's idea of preparing for the future by playing football and his preference for this sport in developing qualities of leadership place him in direct opposition to all for which a great University should stand. I would like to refer Dr. Donovan to the letters Greek, or Psychology. These statements were made over a national of the statements there to those he made at the Sugar Bowl.

Such insincerity from a man of so high a rank is deserving of the utmost contempt. If he intends to hold his position and command any respect from the faculty and students, he must apologize to both and withdraw those recent statements. Should he not choose to do this, I'm sure the alternative course of action is obvious.

A Student Dislikes Cut Rule

Most of us are completely in accord with the executive clemency granted to students who go to the Cotton Bowl and don't make it back to classes on the day after the holidays. It's nice to know that when the game is over you'll have over sixty hours to leisurely amble back to classes on the 4th without fear of double cuts or loss of a credit hour.

Now, we like basketball and football—played 'em ourselves pretty hard in high school. But with a wife and kids, and Uncle Sugar's monthly allowance gone, and being in a professional school where passing grades really have to be earned, we sometimes permit groceries and rent and doctors' bills to cause us to let college athletics slip our minds. We didn't go to the Bowl game (it sure was good on the radio) but some of us cut the last day of school before the holidays in order to take a good soft holiday job carrying Aunt Minnie's greeting cards by the bushel for the Post Office. Prior explanation and request to be excused, addressed to the deans, revealed that someone much closer than Aunt Minnie would have to be dying before a student could be excused from the "double cut" rule.

Although those of us who took cuts on December 19, with full knowledge of the penalty, hope to have an extra hour's credit to sacrifice, we think it inequitable to adhere to such a hard and fast rule when the facts and request are made known before the cut is taken.

We would hate to see the "de-emphasis" program take away the bowl games, but it's a small wonder that that is the present trend! Oppressed.

Praises Bryant Plan

I'm sure everyone agrees Coach Bryant should be highly praised at his decision to recruit his future football players from within Kentucky. This is indeed a gallant step taken by the Bear in an attempt to curb some of the evils of recruiting college athletes, but many things remain to be considered.

Bryant has given Kentucky fans something they never had before. He has brought national prominence to Kentucky football teams and has led them to three bowls in as many years. Fans will no longer be satisfied with a mediocre team but will expect Bryant to continue producing great teams. But if Bryant recruits only boys from Kentucky high schools, will he still be able to turn out such teams as in recent years?

Kentucky does not have as many high schools to choose from as other states. Kentucky fields a little over 100 high school teams, whereas Tennessee has 400 and Pennsylvania 500. There will also be keen competition with other Kentucky colleges for the state gridiron players.

Only the future will show whether the plan will prove successful. Coach Bryant's intentions are wonderful, but the results may not be the same. Football Fan.

New Police Courses Offered Next Term

Two new courses in police administration will be offered next semester, the Department of Political Science announced this week. The courses were announced too late to be put into the schedule books.

Capt. Omi Cornwell and Sgt. David Esple of the Kentucky State Police will teach Political Science 141, Police Administration, a three-credit course. The course will meet the third hour on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday in Room 116 of the Social Science Building.

Political Science C144 or 144a, Traffic Regulations, will be taught by Sgt. Clyde Bierly of the State Police. This course will meet the third hour on Tuesday and Thursday, and will give two credits.

According to the announcement, the State Police provide instruction for the courses without charge.

Radio Major Is Winner Of Disc-Jockey Contest

Doreen Banninger, UK radio arts major, was announced last week as the final winner of the disc-jockey contest on local radio station, WVLK.

As prizes she received a diamond ring and her choice of $250 in cash or a week's trip to Florida with all expenses paid. She chose the $250 in cash.

The contest, sponsored by the Oertel's Brewing Company, consisted of three contestants each night. The contestants were given approximately 15 minutes in which to play three records of their choice. The nightly winner received two chicken dinners and a chance to compete in the weekly contest.

Miss Banninger won for the night and also for the week, receiving a record, a record player, and two dance tickets as weekly winner. In the final contest of weekly winners, she won the additional prizes.

She is a radio arts major, and a transfer student from the University of Toronto. She lived in Canada before coming to UK at the first of the semester.

The theme of her disc show in the contest was "Dream" and it featured music of the dream type. Bud McClain, who conducted the contest, labeled her as the "girl with the dreamy voice."

Miss Banninger has a show of her own on UK's radio station, WBKY.

HUGHES COOPERATIVE PLAN

for MASTER of SCIENCE DEGREES

PURPOSE

To assist outstanding BS graduates in obtaining their Master of Science Degrees while employed in industry and making a significant contribution to important military work.

ELIGIBILITY

June 1952 graduates receiving BS Degrees in the following fields:

Electrical Engineering
Electronic Engineering
Physics
Mechanical Engineering
Aeronautical Engineering

Those chosen to participate in this plan will be from the upper portion of their graduating classes or will have evidenced unusual technical ability. They must also have evidenced imaginative ability and possess personality traits enabling them to work well with others.

CITIZENSHIP

Applicants must be United States citizens who can be cleared for "Secret," due to their work at Hughes Research and Development Laboratories being of a classified nature.

PARTICIPATING UNIVERSITIES

The University of California at Los Angeles and the University of Southern California will participate in this program, and candidates for Master of Science Degrees must meet entrance requirements for advanced study at these schools.

PROGRAM

Under this Cooperative Plan, starting June 1952, the following schedule of employment at Hughes is arranged:

Full time—from June 1952 to Sept. 1952

Half time—from Sept. 1952 to June 1953

Full time—from June 1953 to Sept. 1953

Half time—from Sept. 1953 to June 1954

Under this arrangement it is possible for a recipient to receive 3/8th of a normal year's salary each year and to attend a university half time during regular sessions working on his Master's Degree.

SALARIES

Salaries will be commensurate with the individual's ability and experience and reflect the average in the electronics industry. Salary growth will be on the same basis as full-time members of the engineering staff. In addition, the individuals will be eligible for health, accident, and life insurance benefits, as well as other benefits accruing to full-time members.

TRAVEL AND MOVING EXPENSES For those residing outside of the Southern California area, actual travel and moving expenses will be allowed up to 10% of the full starting annual salary.

TUITION

Tuition at either UCLA or USC, covering the required number of units necessary to obtain a Master's Degree, will be paid by Hughes Research and Development Laboratories.

NUMBER OF AWARDS

Approximately one hundred Cooperative Awards shall be made each year, if sufficient qualified candidates present themselves.

SELECTION OF CANDIDATES Candidates will be selected by a committee of representation composed of two each from the University of California at Los Angeles, the University of Southern California, and the Hughes Research and Development Laboratories.

DATES FOR APPLYING

Informal applications should be mailed prior to January 30, 1952. The Laboratories will then forward formal applications, which should be returned, accompanied by up-to-date grade transcripts, by February 15, 1952. Selections will be made during the month of March.

Campus Interviews on Cigarette Tests No. 31...THE MOUNTAIN GOAT

He thought they were trying to make him the butt-end of a joke when he was asked to judge cigarette mildness with a mere puff of one brand and a quick sniff of another. The fancy foot-work didn't dazzle him! He knew that the pinnacle of pleasure comes from steady smoking... and that there is only one test that gives you enough time to permit conclusive proof. Smokers throughout America have made the same decision!

It's the sensible test... the 30-Day Camel Mildness Test, which simply asks you to try Camels on a day-after-day, pack-after-pack basis. No snap judgments! Once you've tried Camels for 30 days in your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste), you'll see why...

Bill Evans Sparks Wildcats In Thriller Over LSU, 57-47

By Earl Cox

Hustling, ball-hawking Billy Evans came off the bench to turn a stalled Kentucky team into a fighting-outfit and to spark the Cats to a thrilling 57-47 win over Louisiana State University's Tigers before nearly 10,000 roaring, well-pleased fans in Memorial Coliseum Saturday night.

Apparently beaten at the end of the half, the Cats were a different club the second half as Coach Adolph Rupp put his speed boys in the game and started a full-court press, and it paid off beautifully. The Ruppmen outscored the Tigers, and hit extremely well. Pettit finished with 22 points to lead all scorers.

Evans Sparks Squad

Evans seemed to be in the right place at the right time all the while he was in the game. He stole the ball, he hit at crucial points, rebounded like he was on stilts and, what is more important, he set the Cats ablaze with his fiery performance.

Led by lanky Bob Pettit, the nation's second highest scorer, the Tigers could do no wrong the first half. They controlled the rebounds and hit extremely well. Pettit finished with 22 points to lead all scorers.

Alternate Captain Bobby Watson paced the Cats' scoring with 13. He was followed by Lou Tsioropoulos with 11, Skippy Whitaker with 10, Cliff Hagan with nine and Evans and Frank Ramsey with seven.

It was the first official South-eastern Conference victory of the season for the Cats. The game with Mississippi at Owensboro last week did not count in the conference standings.

Argument Flares

The game was enlivened in the third quarter by a brisk argument between Coach Rupp, LSU Coach Harry Rabenhorst, Referee Dan Tehan and the official scorer. The argument stemmed from a disputed basket by Pettit.

Rupp and Rabenhorst came charging off the bench, Rupp when Tehan said the goal was good and Rabenhorst when it appeared Tehan might reverse his decision. Rupp protested vigorously, but to no avail.

McCubbin Announces Intramural Practice

The University was practically without intramurals over the holidays, the only activity being practice for the coming basketball tournament which will begin sometime in February.

All teams interested in obtaining practice periods for the tournament should contact Director of Intramurals, Bill McCubbin at his office in Alumni Gym. All teams may sign up for two sessions of one hour each.

Mr. McCubbin said there would be no tournament this semester because of exams starting January 21 and also because of conflicting use of the gym by classes. The tournament, originally scheduled for this semester, could not be worked in and the only suitable date for those concerned was sometime during early February.

J. Paul Sheedy* Switched to Wildroot Cream-Oil Because He Flunked The Finger-Nail Test

NONE of the girls were wild about this Wildcat. His hair looked like something the cat dragged in! "I'm feline mighty low," he told his Paw. "Every Tomcat, Dick and Harry on campus has dates but me!" "Yes, Siam aware of that, son. You need Wildroot Cream-Oil hair tonic. All the cats are using it because it's non-alcoholic. Contains soothing Lanolin. Relieves annoying dryness. Removes loose, ugly dandruff. Help you puss—I mean pass the Finger-Nail Test." So Paul got Wildroot Cream-Oil, and now he's the most popular Persian at school. Purr-haps it's what you need! Take some small change out of your kitty and pussy-foot it to the nearest drug or toilet goods counter for a bottle or tube of Wildroot Cream-Oil. And ask for professional applications at your favorite barber shop. Hurry—meow is the time!

THANK YA' PODNER. The lobby of the Stoneleigh Hotel in Dallas was fittingly decorated for the invasion of the Wildcats. Here a group of the future Cotton Bowl champs gather around a welcome sign. (Or is it Harry?)

Cats Trounce St. John's For 100th Home Victory

Winning their 100th consecutive victory on their home court, Kentucky's Wildcats rose to perhaps their greatest heights as they humiliated highly rated St. John's, 81-40, before a delighted capacity crowd of 13,000 in Memorial Coliseum Dec. 17.

The defeat was the worst ever suffered by St. John's, the pride of the East, in 43 years of basketball. The Cats' 41-point margin topped by 14 points the previous largest margin of defeat, which was by 57-30 at the hands of Kentucky in Madison Square Garden Dec. 18, 1948.

Kentucky was superb, both offensively and defensively. Every man who performed in a UK uniform covered himself in glory in annihilating one of the nation's top teams, but it was two former Owensboro High players who were the wildest of all the Wildcats.

Cliff Hagan and Bobby Watson each flipped in 25 points to outscore the Redmen themselves. Watson also starred defensively, holding St. John's Capt. Jack McMahon, one of the best set shots in the East, to only three free throws. Hagan was magnificent under the boards, grabbing rebound after rebound.

Although Frank Ramsey played only half the game, he scored 12 points and, along with Shelby Linville, held All-American Bob Zawoluk to seven. The Blond Bomber from Madisonville was never greater as he drove for the basket like he was jet-propelled.

Solly Walker, the first Negro ever to play against Kentucky's cagers in Lexington, looked the best of the Redmen. His play kept his club in the game in the early stages until the Cats got rolling.

Cats Meet Ex-UK Coach At Gainesville Tomorrow

Coach Adolph Rupp's Kentucky basketball team will play their second conference game tomorrow night when they meet the University of Florida at Gainesville.

The Gator coach, John Mauer, is a former Kentucky coach. Mauer coached at Kentucky for three seasons, 1928, '29, and '30. While at Kentucky his teams won 40 games while dropping 14. Mauer was replaced by Rupp in 1931.

Kentucky and Florida have met six times on the hardwood, the first time in 1927, and the Gators are still looking for their first win. During the series Kentucky has scored 387 points; Florida has scored 211.

The Gator team is built around three returning lettermen, Red Wetherington, Curtis Cunkle, and Roy Roberts.

Coach Rupp reported his men in good physical condition before departure.

Senior coed: "Drinking makes you beautiful."

Fresh coed: "But I don't drink."

THE DU PONT DIGEST

Ch. E's at Du Pont

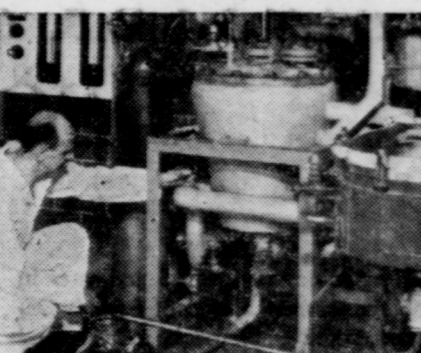

New products mean new opportunities for chemical engineers

STUDYING "Teflon" tetrafluoroethylene resin insulating material with special apparatus: K. F. Richards, B.S.Ch.E., Cornell '48; and E. K. Holden, M.S.Ch.E., Delaware '48.

CHECKING a multi-stage carbon-monoxide compressor used in semi-works operations: R. L. Stearns, B.S.Ch.E., Yale '49; and H. Peterson, B.S.Ch.E., Northeastern University '42.

CHEMICAL engineers supervise preparation of larger-than-laboratory batches of chemicals in Du Pont's Special Service Laboratory.

[FIRST OF A SERIES]

CHARGING experimental polymers to spinning machine: O. C. Wetmore, Ph.D. Phys.Ch., New York U. '44; D. A. Smith, B.S.M.E., Purdue '40; and C. O. King, Sc.D. Ch.E., Michigan '43.

To you as a student chemical engineer, what does this statement bring to mind:

Nearly two-thirds of Du Pont's current sales are in products entirely or virtually unknown in 1930.

Likely it suggests years of solving intriguing engineering problems, the designing of unique equipment, the carrying out of reactions under extraordinary conditions.

But it should also suggest the opportunities that will come to chemical engineers in the future. For at Du Pont, new and better products are continually being developed. From today's extended program of fundamental research you can expect more neoprenes, more nylons, more plastics like "Teflon" tetrafluoroethylene resin.

As these products come out of the laboratory, they will bring with them a succession of interesting and challenging problems for the chemical engineer. Problems that will arise out of their very newness.

For instance, take nylon, the first wholly synthetic organic fiber. In working out techniques for its commercial manufacture, there was practically nothing to go on. The compounds of which it was made, hexamethylenediamine and adipic acid, were essentially laboratory chemicals. Processes had to be devised to make them from cheap raw materials—benzene, hydrogen, air and ammonia. Large-scale preparation of nylon salt from amine and acid required going beyond the classical unit operations.

Here for the first time it was proposed to extrude a fiber with extreme accuracy from a melted polymer at 290°C. At this temperature the polymer decomposes slowly. It had to be melted, pumped at 5000 p.s.i. pressure through microscopic holes and cooled in a hurry. Otherwise the fiber would emerge discolored.

The Du Pont chemical and mechanical engineers and other men and women who worked with them ran into one difficulty after another. More than once they thought that the project would have to be abandoned. However, it is basic in Du Pont people's philosophy not only to take on difficult pioneering problems, but to see them through. With nylon, this persistence paid off handsomely.

Is this the kind of problem you'd like to attack, the kind of people you'd like to work with?

NEXT MONTH—Opportunities for chemical engineers in research and development will be discussed in the second article in this series. Watch for it!

Cats Take Cotton Bowl Championship With Win Over TCU

Babe Passes To Clark For Two Markers Kentucky Defense Refuses To Relent Near Goal Line

With Babe Parilli and 11 other seniors playing their last game for the University of Kentucky, the Wildcats defeated Texas Christian University 20-7 in the Cotton Bowl game at Dallas, Jan. 1.

Parilli passed twice for touchdowns to halfback Emory Clark in the first half and Ed Hamilton plunged across for the final score late in the fourth quarter. The lone T.C.U. score came in the third quarter when Gil Bartosh ran 43 yards for the marker.

Offense Superb

Though the offensive play of the Wildcats was superb, it was the defensive unit that really stood out. The Horned Frogs advanced within the shadows of the goal posts on several occasions, but the stubborn forward wall of the Cats refused to budge. Ray Correll, Doug Moseley, Bob Fry, Moon Conde, and Frank Fuller were the men whom T.C.U. backs had most trouble avoiding. As Coach Bryant remarked after the game, "Our defense or something seemed to happen to them when they got inside the ten-yard line."

Over 75,000 fans filled the giant Cotton Bowl Stadium to witness the sixteenth playing of the annual classic. The temperature was in the high thirties and an 18 mile-an-hour wind raged throughout the game.

Meyer Spread Tough

The famed Meyer spread, employed as the basic formation by the Horned Frogs, gave the Wildcats uneasy moments throughout the game. It gained a total of 300 yards but the Texans could not muster enough power or deception to gain near the goal line. Kentucky was two yards short of that mark in total yardage but two yards don't mean much in a football game unless they are near the goal line.

Kentucky's first score came with less than four minutes left in the first quarter. Parilli passed to Clark from the five yard line after Harry Jones, Allen Felch, Clark, and a Parilli-to-Meillinger pass had advanced the ball to the scoring position. The conversion by 1A Jones was good.

Drive Goes 57 Yards

The Wildcats drove 57 yards for their next score in the second quarter. The deciding play of the series was another Parilli-to-Meillinger pass, this one good for 23 yards. From the 12, Parilli again passed to Clark in the end zone.

Kentucky nursed that lead until late in the third quarter when Bartosh shook loose from two tacklers at the line of scrimmage and began his goal line jaunt. It was the longest touchdown run of the season against the Wildcats.

T.C.U. put together several good drives in the second half but it remained for Ed Hamilton to make the final score of the game. Kentucky took charge on the T.C.U. 26 after an exchange of punts and with 25 seconds remaining in the game, Hamilton slashed across from the 3. Kentucky kicked off, a T.C.U. back fumbled, and Don Dyer recovered on the Frog's 14. When the gun sounded, running plays by Herb Hunt and Tom Pillion had advanced to the 6.

Kentucky line-up:

Centers — Griggs, Moseley, Radd
Right Guards — Ignarski, Correll, Weaver, Dyer, Spicer
Right Tackles — Lukawski, Fuller, Baldwin, Burrus
Right Ends — Proffitt, Farley, Claiborne
Quarterbacks — Parilli, Hunt
Right Halfbacks — H. Jones, Willard, Jirschele, Clark, Hanley
Fullbacks — Leskovar, Adkins, Felch, Fillion, Hennessey, Lawson

Coaches And Players Express Delight With Retirement Of Parilli's Number By Calling Him The Best In History

The Number 10 for a Kentucky football player has been seen for the last time. The number which rose to fame with All-American Vito "Babe" Parilli has been retired. The identifying mark for the Kentucky Babe, the number which has attracted the young and the old alike for three years, was recommended for retirement by Coach Paul Bryant at the Cotton Bowl Presentation Program prior to the Xavier game Jan. 7.

This is indeed a high tribute to the man who has meant more to Kentucky football than any player in history. In Kentucky, his name means as much to Kentucky fans as does any name in any other section of the country. His number can stand alongside retired numbers in any other athletic institution.

Another Babe's number was retired once. The Number 3 of Babe Ruth will never be worn again by a New York Yankee. There will never be another like him. The Kentucky Babe can rest assured his fans hold him in the same esteem.

There's a story behind the retirement of the number. Soon after the Tennessee game Coach Bryant was asked how he felt toward retiring the number. He thought for a moment and replied, "Well, I've never had a number retired on one of my teams. I don't know just what the procedure is. I had rather think it over for awhile."

While later Bryant said, "Let's wait until after the Cotton Bowl game before we do anything about it. Babe is a sensitive kid and I don't know how he will take it. He feels bad about not beating Tennessee — about not even scoring against them. Let's give him a chance in the Cotton Bowl to redeem himself in his own mind. We think Babe played a great game against Tennessee, but he refuses to agree with us."

So Babe played in the Cotton Bowl. He passed for two touchdowns. He was chosen the outstanding back on the field.

Monday afternoon, prior to the presentation program, Bryant was reminded of the number. "Yes, I've thought about it. I've decided if ever a number deserved to be retired, Number 10 does." He made the recommendation that night.

Here are some reactions by the players and coaches to the retirement: JOHN GRIGGS, CENTER. "Babe is the greatest football player I have ever played with and the greatest player I have ever seen. His character is equal to his football ability."

HARRY JONES, HALFBACK. "I think it is the greatest tribute that can be paid to the greatest football player in the history of the University of Kentucky. All you can say is, he is a great guy."

BILL CONDE, GUARD. "I think it is the best thing that could have happened to Babe. There are not enough words in the dictionary to express the respect every man on the squad holds for him. Everybody talks about his arm. It's his brain and his heart which have made him the player and man he is."

PAT JAMES, ASSISTANT COACH AND FORMER TEAMMATE. "Babe Parilli is the greatest football player I have ever played with. I doubt there will ever be anyone here at Kentucky who can compare with him."

ERMA ALLEN, ASSISTANT COACH. "Babe has done more for Kentucky football than any player in history. And he'll keep on doing things for Kentucky because he is a good kid. He's made a name here and people know him wherever he goes. His character will always reflect on the University of Kentucky and you couldn't ask for better public relations than to have Babe remembered with your school."

THE SHOW MUST GO ON — Coach Bryant's talk at the presentation was cut short by the entrance of Coach Eupp and the basketball team. Disgruntled mumbling in the stands suggested the basketball game could have been delayed five minutes. It was obvious Bryant was hurrying his remarks. He didn't even finish paying tribute to his seniors.

THE POWER OF THE PRESS — Not Peers, a journalism student whose by-line you have seen in the Kernel, has a twin brother who is a junior at Texas Christian, majoring in geology. The big topic of conversation during Christmas festivities at their home at Pine Bluff, Ark. were the merits of the competing Cotton Bowl teams. In that family, the power of the press rocked the formations of Texas.

ROGER LAYNE, a member of last year's basketball team, recently resigned his coaching job at Bridgeport, Ill. high school. He attended the U.C.L.A. game and said he may resume graduate studies at the University next semester.

Champs Get Welcome On Return Home

About 150 Wildcat followers were on hand at Blue Grass Field when the Cotton Bowl championship football team returned to Lexington, Jan. 3.

Players Doug Moseley, Babe Parilli, and Jim Mackenzie were not with the team for the return trip. They were in Mobile practicing with the South squad for the annual 'Senior Bowl' game.

The team was in good physical condition with the exception of Steve Meillinger, the team's leading pass receiver of the year. Meillinger was injured in the Cotton Bowl game and was forced to use crutches for a few days.

Ken Kuhn, sports publicity editor, unloaded the huge Cotton Bowl trophy which was on the plane and took it to the Coliseum.

Ramsey Scores 31 Points In Runaway Over Xavier

Slashing, driving Frank Ramsey, Kentucky's Blond Bomber, threw himself back into the thick of the fight for All-America honors as he ripped the nets for 31 points to spark the Cats to an 83-50 triumph over Xavier's out-manned Musketeers here Monday night.

With the Musketeers concentrating their defense on Center Cliff Hagan, Ramsey had a field day, hitting on driving lay-ups one time and connecting on long sets the next.

The Ruppmen threatened to make a runaway of the contest at the very beginning, racing to an 11-0 lead but after that they showed little of the classy play of which they are capable.

Bad passes and missed shots were the rule rather than the exception for both clubs, especially for Xavier, in the ragged tilt.

Huck Budde, a hook-shooting forward, captured Smith's usual high-scoring honors as he pitched in 18. Tom Sims, a product of Louisville St. Xavier, was next with 13. Matt DeBoer, a freshman forward from Lexington, Latin, was a starter for the Muskies. He picked up only one field goal.

For Kentucky, Hagan followed

Ramsey in the scoring department with 13. Bill Evans, the sophomore utility man from Berea who looks better every game, finished next with 9.

It was Kentucky's 104th straight home-floor victory.

CONFERENCE IN THE CLOUDS

Among the undergraduates on any college campus, you'll find the talk reaching up to the clouds. And once in a while—in a classroom, around a study table, or even in a bull session—a really big idea is born.

Big ideas come, too, from the men and women in laboratories, business offices, shops. But often these professionals are exploring a path first glimpsed in college.

How do we know? Because of the many college people who have come into the Bell System, where big ideas and a lot of dreams have taken their place in progress. The human voice, carried along a wire, first across a town, then a state, a nation, and now the world. Music and pictures and things happening delivered into cities and hamlets all across the land by radio and television networks.

We're always looking for the men and women who get big ideas—whether they're about people, or machines, or ways of doing things. It's the only way the Bell System can keep on giving this country the best telephone service in the world.

Hickey Jinx Extended In Sugar Bowl Tourney

It was the same old story in the Sugar Bowl basketball tourney: Kentucky's Wildcats beating everybody else and then losing a heart-breaker to the never-say-die St. Louis Billikens.

This time the pesky Billikens upset the Wildcats, 61-60, in the finals after the Ruppmen had lowered the boom on Brigham Young, 84-64, in a first round game.

Kentucky entered the final minute of the St. Louis game with victory in its grasp, but a shot from the side by substitute Pat Partington put the Billikens only one point behind with 45 seconds left.

The Cats then went into a freeze, but lost possession with 25 seconds to go, and the Bills came roaring down the court. Partington tried a shot from the corner. It missed, but another substitute, Tom Lillis, was there and tipped the ball in the basket for the points which meant the difference between defeat and victory.

Despite the magnificent efforts of Lou Tsioropoulos, the Billikens knocked the Cats out of the Sugar tourney for the third time, and in the three games, the Bills have outscored Kentucky by only four points. It was 42-40 in 1946 and 43-42 in an overtime last year.

Tsioropoulos High Man

Tsioropoulos, playing by far his best game, led the scorers of both teams with 18 points, nine of them in the hectic last quarter in which the Cats led by from one to eight points. Bobby Watson and Cliff Flynn.

Hagan were next in the scoring line, with 16 and 15, respectively. Ray Sonnenberg and Roy Steiner, with 14 each, paced the winners.

The Kentucky-Brigham Young contest was devoid of thrills because it was obvious after the first few minutes that the Cats had too many big guns for the Utah quintet. Brigham Young managed to keep it close for a quarter, however, but at the half Kentucky was 17 points ahead and the Cats merely toyed with the losers in the second half, during which Coach Adolph Rupp substituted freely.

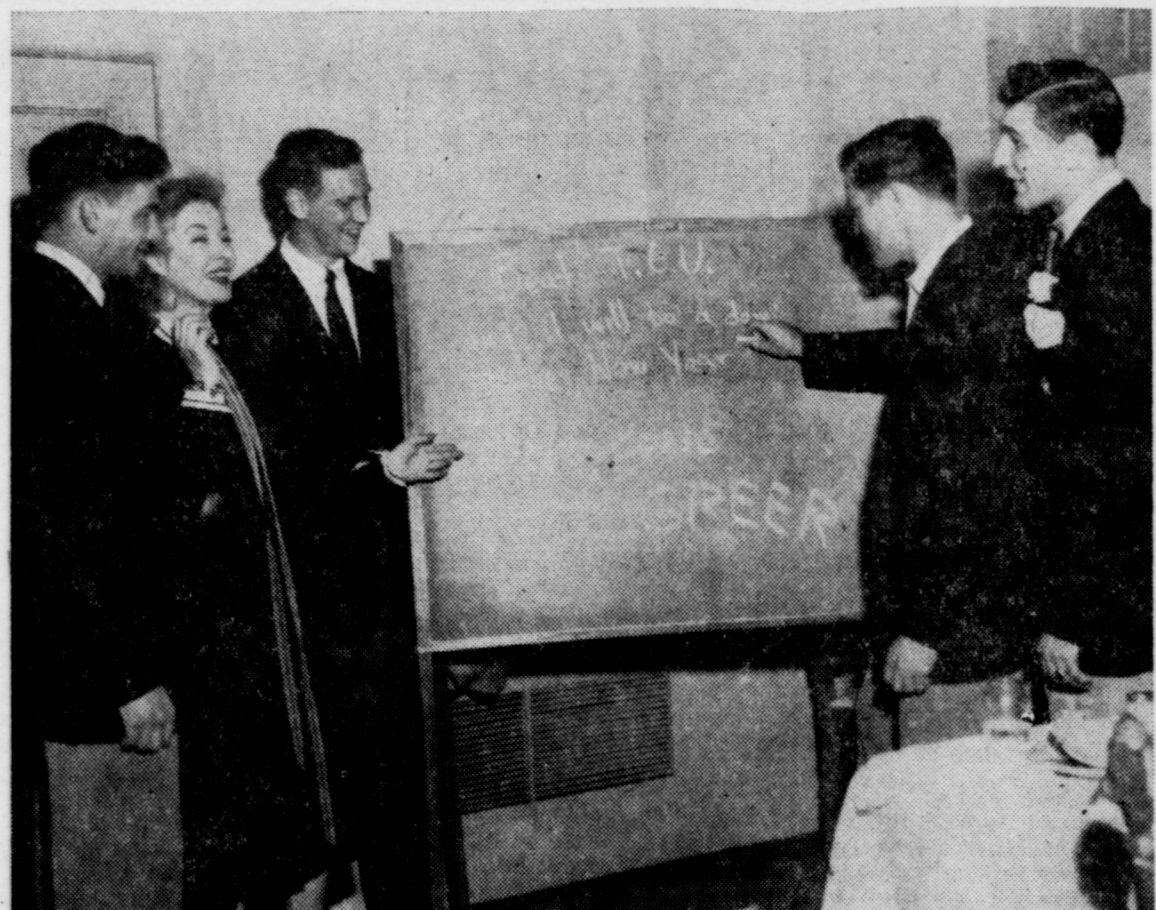

Hagan turned in another great performance for the Cats, scoring 24 points and doing a marvelous job under the boards. Skippy Whitaker, who always seems to play good ball in the Sugar Bowl, followed Hagan with 12, while Shelby Linville tabbed 10.

Air Force Officers Receive Promotions

Three officers assigned to the UK Air Force ROTC have received promotions, the Continental Air Command, Mitchell Air Force Base, N.Y., announced Friday.

Lt. Col. Edward G. Davis, head of the Department of Air Science and Tactics, has been promoted to colonel, Maj. Marshall B. Bone to lieutenant colonel, and Capt. Walter M. Hatcher Jr. to major.

Col. Davis and Maj. Hatcher have been at the University since August 1949. Lt. Col. Bone came to the University in September.

Library Has Display Of Original Cartoons

Original drawings of Rusty Riley, "comic" strip character of Frank Godwin which appears daily in the Lexington Herald, are now on display in the Margaret I. King Library. Since the locale of the strip is the Blue Grass country, Frances Smith Dugan, associate archivist of the library, wrote to Mr. Godwin requesting some of his original sketches.

Parilli Voted Best Back In Cotton Bowl

Babe Parilli was voted the outstanding back in the Cotton Bowl game. His two touchdown passes to Emery Clark, his magical ball handling, and his choice of plays at crucial times gave the award to the All-American quarterback.

Emery Clark, the scoring hero of the day, was runner up, and Tom Fillien, the running standout, came in third in the voting.

The lineman of the day award went to Keith Flowers, T.C.U. line-backer. Ray Correll, rugged Wildcat defensive guard, received the experts' nod for second place and All-American Doug Moseley, Cat co-captain was third in the balloting. Moseley was injured late in the second quarter and did not see action in the second half.

Parilli, Clark, and Correll were named to the All-Time Honorable Mention list of Cotton Bowl performers.

Hagan High As Ruppmen Beat UCLA

With Cliff Hagan ripping the nets for 34 points, Kentucky trounced UCLA's touring Uclians, 84-53, in the Coliseum Dec. 26 before an almost capacity crowd.

The Wildcats, kept under sharp pressure for a little more than half the contest, were markedly erratic at times in both floor play and shooting after a two-week Christmas lay-off.

Sparked by blond Ronnie Livingston, the Uclians held the Cats to a 21-18 lead in the first quarter. The Ruppmen increased their lead to 39-30 at the half and were in the van by 60-47 at the end of the third quarter.

The Cats were unable to stop the driving, left handed shots of Livingston and he finished with 15 points to top the visiting point-makers.

Cagers Upset By Minnesota In Tight Game

Sophomore sensation Ed Kalafat came into his own in the basketball world as the big 6-6 center sparked Minnesota's unranked Gophers to an upset 61-57 victory over Kentucky at Minneapolis Dec. 13.

It was Kentucky's first loss of the season.

Kalafat was magnificent as he controlled the rebounds and piled up 30 big points against the Cats. Only other Gopher to score in double figures was forward Bob Gelle with 11.

Bobby Watson won back his starting berth in this game as he connected for 16 points. Cliff Hagan and Frank Ramsey followed him with 12 and 11, respectively.

Shackled by personal fouls, the Cats lost the lead for the first time late in the third quarter, and a mere nine baskets were bagged by the favorites after intermission.

Athletic Officials Attend Convention At Cincinnati

Athletic Director Bernie Shively, Coach Bryant and Dean of Men A. D. Kirwan are in Cincinnati this week at the annual NCAA convention.

The meetings are being held at the Netherlands Plaza Hotel and will run from January 10-12.

President H. L. Donovan, who is in Cincinnati for another meeting, is planning to attend some of the sessions.

Problems confronting the association are: the fate of post season bowl games, spring practice and the problem of collegiate baseball. The American Association of College Baseball Coaches, which is meeting in conjunction with the NCAA, wants more emphasis put on baseball and therefore are in opposition to the proposal that the NCAA Championship baseball tourney be done away with.
